SUBJECT:

Resolution No. 6-2023, Reporting of Mandatory Inspections & Compliance

DATE:

BACKGROUND:

On September 27, 2018, SB 1205 became effective, adding a new section to the California Health and Safety Code (HSC) which affects every fire department or fire district in the State. SB 1205 holds jurisdictional policy makers accountable to make progress on fire prevention resource requests, and ensures fire department funding allocations account for the long-standing needs of resource deficient fire prevention bureaus.

Existing California state law requires every fire department or district providing fire protection services to inspect every building used as a public or private school annually (HSC §13146.3). This same annual inspection requirement is applicable to hotels, motels, lodging houses, and apartment houses (HSC §13146.2). Currently, the Kentfield Fire Protection District is required by statute to annually inspect five (5) Group E occupancies, buildings, structures and/or facilities and twenty six (26) Group R (and their associated sub-categories) occupancies.

REQUIREMENTS:

SB 1205 requires every fire department or district providing fire protection services to enforce building standards and other regulations adopted by the State Fire Marshal (SFM) to annually report to its administering authority their compliance with the annual inspection requirements of the California Health and Safety Code. The bill also requires the administering authority to formally acknowledge receipt of the compliance report in a resolution or a similar formal document. Kentfield Fire Protection District Resolution 6-2023 has been prepared to meet the requirements of SB1205.

SUMMARY:

- SB 1205 requires local fire departments and fire districts to annually report on its compliance with inspections currently mandated in statute. Specifically, this bill:
- 1) Requires every city, county or district fire department required to perform annual inspections (pursuant to HSC Sec. 13146.2 and 13146.3) to annually report to administrative authority on its compliance of said inspections.
- 2) Requires the report to occur when the administering authority discusses its annual budget, or at another time determined by the administering authority.
- 3) Requires the administering authority acknowledge receipt of the report in a resolution or a similar formal document.
- 4) Defines "administering authority" as a city council, county board of supervisors, or district board, as the case may be.

Type 3 Fire Engine Update and Budget Adjustment FY 22/23.

DATE:

Apparatus update: (617) Type 3 Engine as reported in December 2022.

Engineer Zach Nelson and Firefighter Michael Gutierrez have been in communication with Hi-Tech. They are awaiting the arrival of our chassis from International with no expected date of arrival at this time. Hi-Tech informed us that they have received the Marin County Fire and Sonoma Valley Fire chassis several months ago and have begun the next phase in the build specifications. These are two of the Type 3 engines that were ordered just prior to ours on the assembly line awaiting the chassis. Hi-Tech has the body, compartments, pump systems, modules and are building to our specifications. They are still waiting on a few more specific pieces of equipment, as well as the radios that we ordered back in April. Projected timeline once they receive the chassis could be between 4-6 months for the next phase of build up and delivery. Hi-Tech indicated that they will be in contact in a few weeks to give us an update from the International dealer with hopefully good news and an expected time of arrival of the chassis.

I am requesting the line item adjustments to the current FY 22/23 budget and Reserve Assigned Fund Balance.

KENTFIELD FIRE DISTRICT 2023-2024 Preliminary Budget

Presented May 10, 2023

Kentfield Fire Protection District is a special district formed under the authority of the California Health and Safety Code. The District has an excellent Class 1 ISO (Insurance Services Office) rating. The Kentfield Fire Protection District provides all-risk emergency response. We care for, protect, and serve more than 12,000 residents.

The District operates on a fiscal year from July 1 through June 30. Each year, the Board must adopt a preliminary budget before June 30 to allow the District to spend funds effective July 1 the following fiscal year. The Board adopts a final budget by the end of July.

Our Vision is to continue excellence in fire service delivery, operationally, financially, and politically.

Our Mission: The Kentfield Fire Protection District exists to care for, protect, and serve our communities.

Our guiding principles remain a cornerstone of our relationship with the communities that we serve. Our ongoing commitment to solid, transparent, financial practices.

Our Guiding Principles:

- We are committed to the protection of life, property and the environment.
- We believe that our communities are the reason for our existence.
- We will foster and sustain the trust of our communities and each other, while also protecting that confidence through our attitude, conduct, and actions.
- We will serve our communities with honesty, fairness, and integrity.
- We will pursue safe, effective, timely, economical, and measurable solutions.
- We will consistently provide professional, skilled, and compassionate customer service.
- We will be sensitive to the changing needs of our communities.

Budget Objectives:

- KFD will prepare responsible and accountable budgets that are tied to the adopted mission, and
- We will identify and implement efficiencies in existing expenditures in order to reduce existing costs when possible; and
- We will fund reserves in such a way that provides for some level of stability during economic downturns; and
- We will provide evidence to justify the community benefit of its adopted budgets, expenditures, and reserves.

Marin fire department prepares new dispatch operation.

Marin fire officials are preparing a new dispatch system designed to provide better response to emergencies like fast-moving wildfires.

The fire and emergency services dispatch center would be adjacent to the sheriff's department dispatch center at 1600 Los Gamos Road in San Rafael. That will enable both agencies to share a computer automated dispatch system.

The Marin County Fire Department is developing plans to launch the center in early 2024, Chief Jason Weber said. The proposed center would have 19 staffers.

"This will bring all fire and EMS dispatching into a single center for the entire county, ensuring the most efficient call processing and incident dispatching and support possible," Weber said. "Additionally, the two centers will create needed redundancy, ensuring that both can maintain operational in the event of a failure in one center or the other."

Fire officials were given notice in September that the sheriff's office was severing its long partnership with fire agencies to provide dispatch services on June 30.

In a letter, Sheriff Jamie Scardina wrote that offering fire dispatching "is no longer feasible." The move is anticipated to shift millions of dollars' worth of operating costs away from the sheriff's office, he said.

However, fire officials said they felt it was unrealistic to find an alternative in such a short time. Scardina granted the fire agencies an extension on dispatch contracts while they devise a plan for a new fire and emergency medical services dispatch center.

"We're still working towards a January 2024 crossover," Scardina said. "We continue to have weekly meetings, and Chief Weber and I discuss on a regular basis the progress."

The communications division at the sheriff's office provides dispatching for the Central Marin, Ross Valley and San Rafael fire departments and the Kentfield, Novato, Southern Marin and Tiburon fire districts, as well as five police departments, according to the agency's website.

"MCSO has done an outstanding job and has a dedicated talented group of dispatchers, but they have also suffered to maintain dispatchers, which requires other dispatchers to have to work considerable overtime to cover." Weber said.

Weber said many law and fire centers across the state have struggled with this because the dispatchers have to be trained in two disciplines: law enforcement and fire. For that reason, Marin fire agencies have been talking about splitting to a new fire dispatch model for a while, Weber said.

Marin fire agencies funded a study in 2019 to explore joining REDCOM, Sonoma County's fire and EMS dispatch joint powers authority, to form a new regional center. That plan was set aside because of costs, legislative challenges and a lack of suitable space to operate, Weber said.

The plan now is to create a services agreement between individual Marin fire agencies and the county fire department.

For fiscal year 2022-23, the fire agencies served by the sheriff's office are paying a total of $2.55 million for the service, according to the county fire department. The amount varies per agency depending on department size and calls for service. The San Rafael Fire Department, for example, is paying the most this year at $857,735. Kentfield fire pays the least at $96,248.

The new dispatch center would take an estimated $3 million in startup costs and $4.7 million in ongoing annual costs, Weber said. That assumes that all the same fire agencies join the new agreement.

Under the new dispatching model, fire officials will introduce new technologies, including what's called the "closest resource concept." This will allow emergency vehicles to be geo-tracked so that in the event of a disaster the closest first responders are assigned to the scene. The new system would also be integrated with the Marin County Office of Emergency Services early alerting system and it would allow dispatchers to give firefighters and emergency responders pre-arrival instructions, among other upgrades.

Marin fire officials said they're grateful to the sheriff's office for the relief as they strategize the next steps.

"The extension is necessary for us to carry out all the elements necessary to bring the new dispatch system online," Southern Marin fire Chief Chris Tubbs said.

"I am confident that Marin County Fire will also bring about improvements that the Marin fire chiefs have long sought, such as better integration of technology and closest unit dispatch," Tubbs said.

Novato fire Chief Bill Tyler said he supports the plan and said there are some considerations before finalizing the move.

"We are working with MCFD throughout the development of the fire dispatch planning, scope, framework, design and costs," Tyler said. "We are working with all fire agencies to negotiate both one-time and ongoing costs."

At the request of the San Rafael City Council, Darin White, the city's fire chief, gave an update on the plan this week.

White told the council Monday that in addition to working with the Marin fire agencies, the city's department explored what it would cost to join the city's police dispatch center. White said it would cost too much to pull off.

When contacted Tuesday, White said the estimate was "well over the $2 million mark" because of the need for a new computer aided dispatch system and other technology; the cost to recruit, hire and train staff; and salary and benefits.

White said San Rafael has sent the county fire department a nonbinding letter of intent to be part of the partnership, which he said was a long-sought goal of former fire chief Chris Gray.

"And I think our partnering and being part of this new contract for services is going to ensure that we remain part of the countywide effort," White said.

Weber said he and the sheriff are committed to ensuring a seamless transition.

"If all goes as planned, residents will not experience anything but the continued great service they have come to know and enjoy," Weber said.

Editorial: Marin plan for coordinated emergency communications makes sense

The cost of running emergency dispatching is bringing about some changes.

For many years, the goal was to improve countywide communications and response, while saving money by merging local police and fire dispatching.

Now, the county-run system is breaking up as Marin County Sheriff Jamie Scardina, which runs the dispatching center, has determined its combined police and fire communications center "is no longer feasible."

Hiring and retaining enough dispatchers and the regularity of costly overtime assignments required of staffers to cover gaps has taken its toll on both personnel and the county budget.

An example: According to state records, one county dispatcher was paid almost $200,000 in 2021, including earning $84,000 in overtime pay.

That's a lot of hours that dispatchers had to work to help fill scheduling gaps, often due to lengthy vacancies.

The overtime is a reflection of the challenge of recruiting and retaining top-notch dispatchers in a competitive job market. The overtime and long hours required is also a concern, for the well-being of those workers, the police officers and firefighters relying on their handling of their important - often vital - job responsibilities and the county budget.

A key complication facing the county's communications center has been finding dispatchers who can handle police, fire and emergency medical duties.

Given Scardina's decision, Marin fire agencies now have to build their own communications system. A big benefit is it would still be situated in the same North San Rafael building and rely on the same computer-automated dispatch system.

This will provide the critical insurance of redundancy, providing either system a nearby backup should there be a problem with their operation's equipment.

County fire chief Jason Weber has been working with other Marin fire chiefs to build a 24/7 center that will have 19 employees focused on fire and emergency medical dispatch calls.

The twin systems are an improvement over the days when every police and fire department had their own dispatchers.

Weber says Marin is not alone facing a quandary of hiring and keeping dispatchers trained in handling both fire and police calls. It's one that's shared by many agencies, he says.

The new dispatch center will also allow for use of new technologies, including the geo-tracking of emergency teams so, in the event of a disaster, the closest responder can be assigned to respond.

In a county as small as Marin, it makes sense to have a consolidated and coordinated communications operation.

It is costly – a projected $3 million in startup cost and an ongoing tab of about $4.7 million.

For many years, the county has honed its mutual-aid response system to maximize the firefighting clout of its local fire departments. Consolidating communications under one roof has been a missing part of that strategy, but Weber and Marin's fire chiefs have come up with a plan and system that responds to that need.

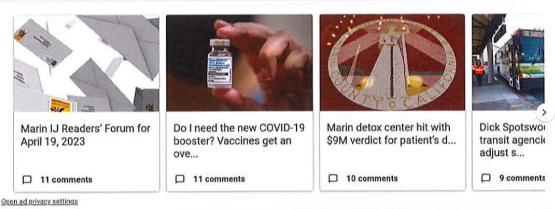

Marin taxpayers have long invested their tax dollars in providing top-notch firefighting crews and emergency response. This is one such investment, one that Marin's fire chiefs agree is necessary to help save lives and property.
